with painkiller drug addiction have a better prognosis for recovery than heroin addicts and therefore may be having an impact. Low count and motility issues occur due to several factors which take time to subside. Drugs are used as short-term tools.